> The senator said his plan had the backing of the administration house by Chairman Jones, democrat, Texas, of the agriculture committee there.

The Lee bill was offered as an amendment to the present federal farm tenancy program under which the government is spending $25,000,000 a year to purchase farms. The farms are then resold to selected tenants on a long-term low-interest plan.

"This has reached only a few thousand tenants each year," Lee said "It is just a drop in the bucket compared to the insured mortgage plan, but it has demonstrated that a tenancy program will work."

Instead of buying the farms, the government, under the new bill, would merely insure mortgages given on purchase.

Lee said that interest on these would be limited to 3 per cent annually and that tenants would be selected by county farmer committees as under the present pro-

"The seller of the farm must agree to the terms, and the government would check up on the prospective buyer," Lee said. "There would be little, if any, chance for government losses because farm lands are now at low price levels." Lee said tenants who lacked

SALLY SAVER'S FAVORITE RECIPE CONTEST. Rice Cookery.

As rice is the principal food for one-third of the world's population, is sold in every country and found on the table of rich as well as poor, there are naturally many opinions on the proper method of cooking it.

The question always to be settled is-"To stir, or not to stir." Strange to say, both schools can turn out rice that is white and fluffy—every grain a separate unit —which is the way every dish of well-dressed rice should appear when served.

There are two main points in rice cookery which should never be overlooked:

1. The rice must be properly washed. This being a most important part of rice cookery, the rice must be washed very carefully in cold water, then washed again, and then again, then once more for luck

2. Rice is best when cooked in a thick metal pot, not a thin one.
Observing the above two rules, you may choose most any recipe and secure good results.

Rice croquettes were second in popularity in this week's favorite recipe contest with rice pudding heading the list. Mrs. B. O. Daniel, R. F. D. No. 2, Chipley, Ga., suggests that pineapple and rice croquettes be served the next time you have ham or chicken for dintablespoon four cup milke them.

-as has been shown by the thousands of visitors since the opening of the show last Monday.

The opportunity to learn all about flower gardens, the various types of blooming plants, the beauty and practicability of landscaping, has not escaped the attention of the home-keepers of Atlanta. Another feature of the exposition that has made a strong appeal to women has been the wonderful showing of all that is latest in furniture and furnishings, in electrical devices, in music and 'decoration for the home. For the men there are many exhibits of the latest in heating and insulating, in plumbing and painting and roofing, and the many practical essentials that enter into home owner-

The exposition has been all that its name implies—a practical home show—revealing all that is needful and beautiful to make home life cheerful, comfortable and happy. The pretty cottage on the stage, which shows a life-sized, livable ome when you enter it, has been admired by thousands. Just who will own this pretty home at the conclusion of the show is unknown. A number of visitors have asked for full details and bidding blanks at the booth of Homes Beautiful, and quite a few bids have been handed in under seal to the office of Director Foster B. Steward.

Highest Bidder.

It must be remembered the home is to go to the highest bidder. It is to be removed by its builders, Hardin & Ramsey, to a pretty 70-foot front lot in Chel-sea Heights, which is included in the bid. Another bedroom is to be added, a garage built under one end of the home, heating apparatus installed, and electrical and other conveniences arranged—in fact, made a complete, convenient, finished, model home. The reconstruction of the home on the lot will be under the rules and supervision of the FHA. The Standard Federal Savings & Loan Association, at 35 Walton street, which will make the loan, has on file an official commitment, No. 10,011,306, to insure its loan of 90 per cent of the value of Curtailed services in health work and welfare as well as schools will be the result of the legislative failure to provide funds, Governor Rivers asserted.

Action by the house yesterday climaxed a rough - and - tumble session which saw the administra-tion beaten four times on highyield revenues measures, urged to finance an asserted current deficit of $8,500,000.

It left Governor Rivers confronted with the problem of op-erating schools for seven months and carrying on welfare activities without additional taxes. Already state departments paid from gen-eral funds are operating on 55 per cent of their appropriations.

After the house defeated the last revenue measure, Governor Rivers issued a brief statement, asserting: "Schools to Close."

"I regret exceedingly that the house of representatives has forced schools in those counties that can not support themselves on local taxes to close and forced the partial closing of most of the eleemosynary institutions, has forced discontinuance of cancer control work in which we are making so much progress, and other features of the health program, including Alto, has forced the striking from the pension rolls several thousands now drawing pensions and pushed back the palsied hands of those who are not now drawing pen-sions but who should be drawing

"I want to pay tribute to the speaker of the house and the courageous members of the house who have diligently tried to avert the closing of the school house doors and depriving the people of our state of the governmental services which they have approved. The people of Georgia will not long tolerate men forced upon them who oppose what the people want. I will give the people of Georgia a full report on the matter over radio station WSB on next Monday night from 6 to 7

Opponents of tax increases repeatedly have told the legislature, however, that present revenues are sufficient to operate the state and have charged that a crisis in school financing was engineered to "bring pressure" on the assembly to approve new levies.

On a roll call lasting nearly two hours, during which members variously explained their votes, the house rejected the new pro-posal, 103 to 89, for the sharpest

Its death leaves the state operat ing upon the current appropriations bill, calling for around $96, 000,000 in expenditures but for which state revenues have fallen short. A clause in the bill prevents the state from spendin more money than actually is col-lected; thus forcing curtailment in operations by the departments af-fected, including schools, welfare, etc.

Three appropriation bills were approved by the house and sent to the senate. They included an additional $50,000 for legislative expense to cover a deficiency for the 1937-38 extra session; $482,000 for past-due debts of the Milledgeville State Hospital for Insane and other eleemosynary institutions and $90,000 for the next biennium to cover payments to farmers for cattle condemned in connection with tests for Bangs' disease. Only one house measureresolution to impeach Superior Judge William Woodrum, of the Ogeechee circuit—still could be acted upon. Speaker Harris said tonight's deadline would not affect the resolution, but enactment would mean an extended session. If adopted by the house, the senate would be required to continue sitting to try the jurist. Proponents of the impeachment move, however, indicated they saw likelihood the resolution would be considered.

The senate passed by a vote of 43 to 5 a house-approved bill providing for the merger of the post roads division with the State Highway Department.

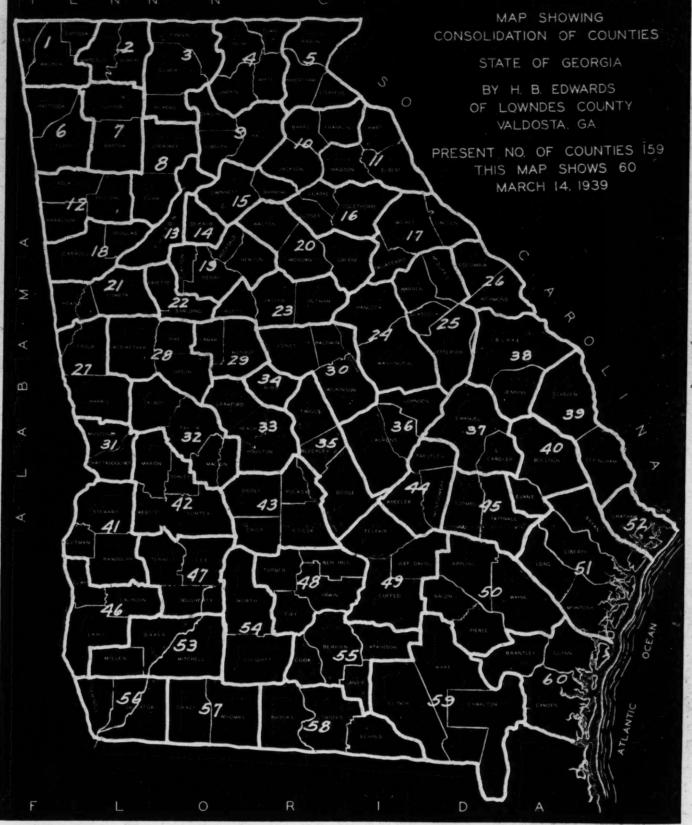

By a measure passed last year the post roads division had been set up as a separate unit, and the bill passed by the senate today again puts the division under the administration of the highway department.

In 1912, an accident occurred which led to adoption by the govern-ment of the safety helt ment of the safety belt. It was on June 20 that Captain Towers was flying as a passenger-

Captain Towers escaped death, but was seriously hurt when the plane crashed. That same eventful year, Captain Towers, undeterred by the accident a few months before, took sponsored by Rodman Wanamaker, millionaire sportsman.

His old friend and fellow airenthusiast, Glenn Curtiss, had nominated Captain Towers to Wanamaker as pilot for this his-toric flight. But fate, in the form of an outbreak of the World War, ntervened. The project was abandoned. Captain Towers was ordered to Europe as an aviation observer. He was attached to the American embassy in London, where he remained for more than two years. In the autumn of 1916, he was sent to Washington and was assigned to duty in operations in charge of naval aviation under that office.

He also was ordered to supervise the naval aviation flying corps, then being organized. Upon establishment of the division of aviation in operations, he was ordered to duty as assistant director of naval aviation. He continued in that post until February, 1919, when fate again gave him 'crack" at a trans-Atlantic flight. May, 1919, remains vivid in the memory of millions in America. "The fundamental Creed of Lane Drug Stores," said Mr. Naylor-"the basic principle of operations that we have endeavored to instill into the work-a-day lives of our Personnel-is the fact that 'Customer Satisfaction' must be the keynote of their business operations.

"Lane Drug Stores," explained Mr. Naylor, "are not operated primarily for the officials and stockholders of the Company. Their real business is to render Satisfactory Service to the citizens of a community of which they are a part.

"It is for this reason that we try to impress upon our personnel the importance of seeing that what is done-in the few minutes they serve their customers—is done in a manner most satisfying to the customer. It is a circle that goes 'round and 'round," said Mr. Naylor. "If the customer is satisfied-the firm will make money-and the salespeople earn a livelihood . . . a vital circle that by SATISFACTORY SERVING keeps alive the business interests of any community."

ANE RECHECKS

Lane New Super Service Drug Store offers unexcelled shopping facilities to their friends and customers in Northside area.

"We are delighted," said Mr. Hardage, Manager of Lane New Super Service Drug Store, located at the corner of Peachtree and able to offer to our friends and customers in the Northside Section, a store that we know will make their shopping easier, and cists-of many years' experience their visits with us a real

"We have spared no effort," said Mr. Hardage, "to make our new assurance that they are as skill- store a place where it will be a pleasure for our customers to meet fully and correctly compounded as their friends-for shopping-for lunch, or for a refreshing Fountain Treat.

"Completely new throughout, with greatly enlarged floor space, new, modern, up-to-date fixtures and a new Soda Fountain, our New Super Service Drug Store is a spot of beauty for our Northside patrons to gather. It is by far," said Mr. Hardage, "the most outstanding example of a thoroughly modern Suburban Drug Store in the Lane Organization, and a store that I know will add prestige to the Northside business section."

Mr. Hardage extends an invitation to his friends and customers to visit him and his personnel in their new quarters-inspect their new store and be convinced that it is in reality, the most thoroughly modern and up-to-date suburban store in the City of Atlanta.

TATE L. EARNEST, Vice President, LANE DRUG STORES, INCORPORATED

"We are especially proud," said Tate L. Earnest, Vice President of Lane Drug Stores, Incorporated, "of the spacious quarters of our new store. The floor space has been greatly enlarged to add to the comfort, as well as the convenience of our friends and customers.

"We are delighted, too, with the light, airy interior, with its unusually large display space.

"We have completely modernized our interior furnishings—fountain and other fixtures, so that they will be in keepings with the growing community of which our store is a part.

"In addition to the services we rendered the Buckhead Community in our previous locations—we have added in our new Super Service Store—complete facilities for serving tempting, hot lunches and spe-

THAT DEFICIT IN HIGHER EDUCATION

It has been pointed out on many occasions that fees charged at private, as well as at publicly-owned institutions of higher education, were insufficient to defray the actual cost of the services rendered.

State institutions have been confronted with a steadily increasing enrollment in the face of a constant threat of curtailed appropriations. Privately operated institutions have seen their income from endowments, with no new gifts at hand, shrink to the vanishing point. All face the question, shall fees be increased?

Naturally the opinion is divided. A majority of the executives of state institutions are opposed to an increase. A majority of private executives are in favor of it. The difference in viewpoint may logically be traced to the source whence funds to meet the deficits are derived. The former looks to the legislature to solve his financial problems. The latter, without public support, must solve the problem himself or close up. But the higher the tuition at private institutions the greater the enrollment at state institutions, where fees are uniformly lower. So, as fast as the private institution solves the problem by increasing fees, the state institution is faced with additional difficulties.

Whether or not students financially able should be required to pay the actual cost of their education has been under discussion for many years. The question grows in interest as educational income continues to diminish. It does not seem quite in the American spirit, however, to have more than one standard of charges at a publicly-owned institution.

Providing financial assistance to students of limited resources, in addition to scholarships based on merit, by having tuition fees as low as possible has long been a custom. The object, of course, was to permit higher education to become general rather than limit it to a few in the well-to-do class.

State institutions, however, are supported by all the people through taxation in relation to their ability to pay taxes. Therefore there should be no discrimination against one class in favor of another. When it comes to assessing tuition fees at a state university all students should pay on the same basis. And the fees should be kept within reach of all.

RESIGNATION REFUSED

Walter Johnson, of Chattanooga, a pioneer in the organization and development of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association, will continue in his post as treasurer of that body. Following severance of his long connection with The Chattanooga News, Mr. Johnson tendered his resignation to the SNPA, but it was unanimously refused and he will serve out his term. which runs until the convention next June.

Mr. Johnson has been one of the most active members and officers of the SNPA since its earliest days. He has attended every convention except those of 1903 and 1907 and has held many offices in the organization. In 1913 he was elected to the executive committee, which has since been changed into the board of directors. He was re-elected in 1914 and, in 1915, was made vice president. He became secretary-treasurer in 1916, serving in that capacity until 1925, when he was made president.

At the end of his presidential year, in 1926, he was made chairman of the board and, in 1927, was named treasurer, a post he has held

The SNPA wisely refuses to permit the services of such a stalwart and enthusiast to end for the organization. Regardless of his future career, Mr. Johnson has contributed as much as any man, more than most, to the success of a body which has been an important factor in the progress of southern newspapers generally. Under any circumstances it is almost inconceivable to think of the SNPA without Mr. Johnson's part therein and, in future years, his splendid influence and wise counsel will be perpetuated in the progress the organization makes. He has made an indelible imprint upon southern journalism and it is the unanimous hope of his fellow members that he may long continue to serve the SNPA.

"An actors' union orders its 10,000 members hereafter to refrain from all WPA jokes." All? Were there two?

TRRECONCILABLES?

While the discussions that have taken place between committees of the American Federation of Labor and the CIO, seeking peace between these two great factions of organized labor in America, have been well guarded from public knowledge, there is not lacking evidence that the cause of labor peace has not, as yet, been far advanced.

John L. Lewis, of the CIO, refused to pose for news photographers when leaving the conference room and reporters stated that other conferees displayed short tempers in refusing to reply to questions after the secret conclave had adjourned.

It is to be hoped, for the sake of the entire country, that these impressions are wrong. There is nothing that would be more effective in adjustment of the national economic situation than a peace between the AFL and the CIO. It would give organized labor a united front and make more effective those necessary discussions between labor and management, which must be held if the prosperity of industry and the status of the worker are alike to improve.

Leaders of both groups should realize that all through history progress has ever been achieved by compromise. It is inconceivable that either side to the present labor split should make peace by accepting, in loto, the terms of the other. Both must make concessions and, if both do so, meeting each other halfway, both will gain in the long run.

Adherence to theory is one thing. Realization that there is argument on the other fellow's side, too, is another. The man who will not give ground, partially at least, in order that disputants may arrive at proper compromise, makes of himself not a champion for his cause, but a fanatic who impedes the progress of human advancement.

The entire nation watches the labor conferences with the confident hope that something better for American labor will be forthcoming than either party has hitherto offered. It is up to the conferees to see that that confidence is not misplaced.

SAFETY AT PANAMA

American opinion, generally, will undoubtedly approve any reasonable expenditures for the making of the Panama canal safe from attack by any possible foreign foe. It is probable that the request by President Roosevelt for an emergency appropriation of $14,700,000 for strengthening the Panama defenses and $276,773,000 for construction of auxiliary locks will be backed by congress without much opposition.

There can be no interpretation of the government moves for stronger military and naval defenses as tending to promote war-breeding international rivalries. Almost unanimously the American people know that it is but simple wisdom to see that defenses are secure in a world so uncertain and so disrupted by powerseeking autocracies as the world of today.

Today there is no real menace to the United States. But, should war come, either to this nation itself or to the democracies whose fate is inextricably involved with ours, the Panama canal would be a vital link in maintaining the freedom of traffic upon the oceans.

A canal unprotected is the most vulnerable point in naval strategy. It is not beyond bounds of possibility that enemy planes, flying from some naval airplane carrier or from some nearby field in Central or South America, could drop high explosive bombs upon the Panama canal. It would not take more than three or four modern bombs of that character to effectually block the canal to traffic without the auxiliary locks. Thus the Atlantic and Pacific fleets would be severed and the naval power of the United States seriously imperiled.

It may cost money to so strengthen the canal defenses that they shall be impregnable. But it is, in any event, money well spent.

A NEW TRADE TRICK (From The Spartanburg Herald.)

many years ago American business invented the device known as the "holding com-pany," and it wasn't long before there were holding companies within holding companies and they in turn were blanketed by master holding companies. Purchasers of securities soon discovered that they had broken into big company and didn't know whether they were coming south or going

In time the holding company developed a bad The crash of the Insull utility pyramic and the Van Sweringen railway empire directed attention to this new invention of business which had fixed its fangs so firmly that all efforts to break the hold have been but partly successful. Now we are told of a new device known as "basing point selling," which is engaging attention of the Federal Trade Commission and the govern The scheme seems to have been worked out by the steel companies, but its popularity is growing and is fast being adopted by other big

A town or city is selected as the basing point in a given territory. Then the cost to the consumer of a commodity is set by a price leader plus the freight from that basing point. Mr. A. wants a certain commodity, and all the producers of that commodity quote him the same price, whether they are near or far. He may be next to the XYZ rolling mill, but the price the mill offers will be no lower than that of a distant mill if they both operate within the same basing basing point is Oshkosh, the If the mill across the street will quote him steel rails plus the "phantom freight" from Oshkosh, even if there is no transportation cost at all.

That is the way it works, and the FTC told the committee: "The practices of the steel industry alone may not ruin the capitalistic system, but if they are reinforced by monopolistic practices in other industries, the total effect may come to be the strangulation of the blood stream of trade

The revelations relating to this new system of controlling trade are made just as the administration has announced a policy of appearement. They come while many leaders in congress and in in-dustry are declaring that Secretary Hopkins' at Des Moines sounded well, but that they must have action. They come when there are 10,000,000 of employed and when critics of the administration are demanding that spending be curtailed, though this trade system, if extended, will further decrease the number of people with-

And what if the federal government is requested by the monopoly committee to smash this invention that is operating to "strangle the blood stream of trade," and should attempt to do it? Why, that will be called government interference business, a blow aimed at rugged indi-

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

DEGENERATING INTO FARCE WASHINGTON, March 16. The move to revise taxes once hopefully conceived as a grand "business appeaser," is generating less and less appeasement and more and more broad farce, in the manner of "Hellzapoppin." Being deathly persistent felows, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. and his faithful aide, Undersecretary John W. Hanes, may end by getting the tax revision they desire. Just now, however, everyone is cheerfully contradicting everyone else, and the imagination reels at the prospect of the next development.

Just to supply a complete chronology, the President began by asking for about $450,000,000 of new taxes in his budget message. The Treasury went to work on plans for the taxes. Then the President, having been told he couldn't get new taxes from congress, announced he didn't want any. The unwarned Treasury rallied from the shock, consulted the President, and announced that, instead of new taxes, revisions of the old to make business happier

A few days ago, Morgenthau and Hanes started the laborious business of explaining their planned revisions to the President, having already received promises of co-operation from the chairmen of the senate finance committee and the house ways and means committee, Pat Harrison and Robert L. Doughton. But, on Monday, the senate majority leader, Alben W. Barkley, emerged from a talk with the President to declare that he expected no revisions would be attempted. And, on Tuesday, the President intimated that the majority leader was suffering from a delusion, and that revisions were likely, but would not be allowed to cut tax yield. In fact, if a few banana peels had been thrown in, the plot would not have

HAPPY CHATS Heaven knows, the revisions desired by Messrs. Morgenthau and Hanes are mild enough. So far, although they have had a series of talks with the President, they have only succeeded in presenting arguments for simplified corporate taxation, including the abolition of the capital stock and other minor levies, and the substitution of a single tax on corporate income. Presumably, the fact the abolition of other levies will necessitate an increase in the present corporate income tax was what was troubling Senator Barkley. But either Hanes and Morgenthau had not got around to telling the President, or the President failed to make his not always perceptive majority leader understand. For Barkley argued that an increased corporate income tax would bear down on small business, whereas Morgenthau and Hanes have fixed it to give small business extra concessions.

It's understood that the Morgenthau-Hanes-President conversations have been pleasant and promising, although the President has not yet given any commitment to his Treasury men. More talks will come, at which Morgenthau and Hanes may present (rather gingerly) plans for lowering surtaxes in the highest personal inckets, where Treasury statisticians believe that the point of diminishing returns has been reached. They will certainly recommend about two score minor clarifications of tax law and improvements in tax procedure, intended to make tax paying a less infuriating process.

DOUBTFUL MOUSE Although Morgenthau and Hanes are still struggling onward, it must be admitted that a marked lowering of temperature is noticeable at the Treasury, and naturally so. After all, the Treasury is a sufficiently mountainous institution. It has labored on taxes for eight solid months. And now it's at least doubtful that even a mouse will be brought forth.

The Morgenthou-Hanes program is distinctly mouse-sized, and if it runs into trouble, the reason will be simple, old-fashioned hurt pride. The share-the-wealth tax of '35 and the undistributed profits tax of '36 were the New Deal's two great ventures in the fiscal field. Both were personally sponsored by the President. In the higher brackets, the share-the-wealth tax has proved unproduc-The Treasury wants reduction in these brackets as a mere re. As for the undistributed profits tax, only a shred of it is left, and the shred brings in virtually no revenue. Again, the Treasury would like to let the useless tax expire for good this year. Unfortunately, neither of these meaningless but kindly gestures can be gracefully made by the President.

Meanwhile, the argument advanced by opponents of tax revision is that, if taxes are "opened up" in congress, all sorts of levies by the New Deal, such as the capital gains tax, will be assaulted by conservative Democrats. Here, too, the Treasury has an answer. Besides the shred of undistributed profits tax, many others expire this year. They must be renewed. And why not avoid all trouble by offering the Treasury program as a compromise, and exacting commitments from Democratic rebels to go no further? Like the Treasury's other answers, it is reasonable. It to be seen whether reason will prevail.

A new last night, but instead of the ordicivilization and a new culture will eventually arise upon the ruins of this we know, if it is foredoomed that all in which we take such pride is to crumble into dust.

Or, perhaps, western civilization has served its turn. Has come and progressed, has made its contribution and now, after reaching a given stage in advancement, has failed in the greater task and must be discarded from the scheme of earthly things,

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH McGILL.

AGAIN, MR. "HELL BENT" It was just yesterday that I started off a piece for the paper with a quotation from Mr. "Hell Bent" Edwards, the legislator from Lowndes. So, perhaps, it is just as well to say that I know Mr. "Hell Bent" Edwards only by sight and therefore am not beating any publicity drums for him.

Mr. Edwards left his seat in the house to introduce a proposal for a constitutional amendment to limit the number of Georgia's

The amendment will not pass, but it is a good amendment, backed by good, sound judgment. In the years to come it will prevail. The fact that such an amendment actually was introduced is a forward step of importance.

There are too many counties. No one denies it. One has but to look at a map of Georgia, preferably one which is in black and white showing only the outlines, to see at once the preposterous number of counties within the state.

It would be possible to reduce the number to 60 or even 35 and give to each of them the proper equity in population. This would, of course, not include the three or four large centers of population such as Fulton and Chatham. But 55 of the proposed 60 counties could be given equitable shares of population Legislator Edwards said:

There are 2,500 county officeholders in Georgia, and some of the counties have less than 5,000 population. Yet they must maintain a full set of county officials. Many of these counties have no adequate courthouses or jails and are so small they could easily be

That is true. No one can deny it. There ought to be consolidation. It would mean less duplication of services, better schools, better roads and better government.

THE DRAIN TO THE CITIES A number of opponents of the plan reply with some heat that the cities are behind the movement and that the cities already have drained away the population and the trade of the small counties. That is true. Yet it has not been a deliberate effort on the part of the cities. The cities have not sought to bring in more people. The cities are not happy with thousands of unemployed who need doctors, food and hospitalization. A large part of the present tax revolt over the nation is due to the relief problem of cities. The cities do drain away the population and some of the trade. Yet it is not sound argument to rebuke the cities and to employ an economic fact as an argument against county consolidation. The problem is a national one. It must begin with counties.

The counties which have lost population to the cities might inwhy they lost it. Those who left apparently believed they would find opportunity in the cities they did not have at home.

The government figures show a disturbing fact. The age of farmers is increasing. There are some counties in Georgia where the average age is near 50 years. This means the young people are not staying on the farms.

The good roads do not all run one way. They lead to the cities.

They also lead away from them. It is no good painting the unhappy cities, struggling with a growing burden of relief and unemployment, as painted sirens deliberately luring the population from the rural counties. It isn't true. It is true they come. Every day some young people leave some community and go to Atlanta, Savannah, Macon, Columbus and other cities of the state. They go seeking opportunity. The cities have drained away some population and trade. No one denies it. But why?

WHERE IS OPPORTUNITY? If there were 60 counties, or less, and if they had honest, planning government, much could be done.

There could be established vocational school units to care for the 83 per cent of high school graduates who are not going to college. They could be taught something about their own problems and how to meet them.

They would not then be bringing only their youth to the citles. They would not be added to the hundreds of young people who are not trained for anything at all and who have only their youth to offer when applying for a job. Every day untrained people the struggle on some eroded, worn-out farm and "come to town, Consolidation would mean that the several counties which take in about $10,000 in taxes would be able to provide better schools and better opportunity.

The merchants and the farmers in these consolidated counties ought to be able to work out some plan of mutual aid and appreciation. Fewer counties would bring about no millennium, would per se create no prosperity. But it would solve some problems and present opportunity for more efficient government.

It's no good damning the cities. They don't want unemployment and increased debts for relief and all the other expenses of that condition. They do drain away population and trade. But why? It's time to cheer on the Edwards amendment!

And Farmers. You are President. You were A Letter to Any Young Man Who Will Graduate This Year

By ROBERT QUILLEN. Dear Bill: In a few more months you will have your diploma and be out on your own. The value of diplomas, like that of other things, is determined by their scarcity, and they aren't as scarce as they used to be. Moreover, your grades, expressed in percentages instead of letters, average 75, which means that you are 75 per cent educated in the few matters you studied. That may be 5 per cent of all that is known of these subjects, and something less than one-half of o per cent of all human knowledge.

Still, you have a better start than nine young fellows in ten. You have a poise, a knowledge of people and a prestige that you didn't have as a freshman.

What you do with yourself now will depend in large measure on what your university experience did to you. Young Brisbane quit college recently because he couldn't enjoy sitting around and drinking with other young men whose people were rich. You didn't have that kind of experience, for you w lucky to have enough money to pay your laundry bill, but you did discuss Life with a capital "l" and form certain mental attitudes that will now prove an asset or a handicap.

You must have a job and take orders from a boss. He may seem an old fogy or a common stick who doesn't know much, but he will think himself pretty smart. At least he has made good.

That proves something.

Once you get the job, we'll soon know whether you are to climb fast and become a big shot or drift along and still be at the bottom ten years from now. We'll assume that you have ability. If you also have an eager desire to "be somebody," and if you are smart enough to play the you will go at your job as though you loved it; reme that older men appreciate good manners; be humble enough to learn; never try to "get by," but take pride in making good; and earn higher jobs by making yourself too useful to be ignored.

regard yourself as the only right guy in a land of dumb clucks and crooks, the going will be pretty rough. Seeing others get ahead, you will get the alibi habit and begin fooling yourself. Those who s you will be lucky stiffs or fellows with a pull or plain rascals. And you will have the habit of thinking about your rights, and the tter breaks you deserve, and the world's unfairness.

The boss doesn't care for argument. He doesn't care for your opinion on world problems. Nothing impresses him but results. You begin as a zero, with everything to prove. And nothing can Majority Thinks Roosevelt Administration Not Friendly Enough, Dr. Gallup's Survey Shows.

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP. Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

NEW YORK, March 16.-With President Roosevelt's advisers now engaged in a bitter fight over whether the New Deal should attempt to conciliate business further or stand pat on its present program, a nation-wide survey of public opinion provides important new facts on the trend sentiment regarding the administration's business policies

One group of White House ad-visers is urging the President to hold fast and make no concessions to business. An opposing group, headed by Secretary Hopkins and Secretary Morgenthau, wants him to adopt a definite policy of moderation and positive encouragement to business. The President is said to be wavering between the two schools of thought. One question basic to the whole troversy is: in what direction does the public lean?

The national soundings of the American Institute of Public Opinion give strong evidence that minant pull of public opin-

A TRULY GREAT WHISKEY - FOUR ROSES

IT'S ALL WHISKEY 4 YEARS OR MORE OLD

DO YOU KNOW

- Aging improves a good whiskey, but it can't make a poor whiskey good. So all the whiskies that go into Four Roses are outstandingly good to start with.
- All of them are at least 4 years old-old enough to be bot-I tled in bond. And they would be bottled in bond, if we thought they would be as good, sold separately that way.
- 3 But our 74 years' experience has taught us that the finest whiskey is made by combining several of our whiskies into one whiskey that's finer still.
- 4 Then we purposely make Four Roses lighter and milder, by reducing it to 90 proof (instead of the stronger 100 proof which bottled-in-bond whiskies must be).
- Four Roses is ALL whiskey—with the mellowness of age, and the greatness that only generations of distilling skill can give, Compare it with any other whiskey made.

The straight whiskies in Four Roses are years or more old. Frankfort Distil-

Atlanta from Mr. and Mrs. William Jennings Weller, who will be "at home" on Tuesday, March 21, from 4 to 7 o'clock, at their winter home, 1564 Brickell avenue, in Miami, Fla. There is no indication that the occasion will mark the hosts' 50th wedding anniversary, other than the two dates, 1889-1939, engraved in gold at the top.

The affair will take the form of an elaborate garden party at the Weller home, which is one of the show places of Miami and one of society's favorite gathering places. Ideal, too, as a setting, are the beautiful palm-fringed gardens to the rear of the home, a charming feature of which is the pavillion built especially for dancing. The gardens extend to include several gardens extend to include several acres of "jungle," a tropical Miss Sanford, Fiance woodland which has been left in Its natural state and is threaded with a clear, sparkling brook.

Mr. and Mrs. Weller, who are beloved members of Miami's fashionable winter colony and are noted for their cleverness and originality in entertaining, were married in New York on March 21, 1889, Mrs. Weller having been Miss Mary Comfort, of New York, before her marriage. Their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Elder, whom they often visit here, will leave by motor for Miami today to attend the golden wedding celebartion.

Another son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Von Glahn, of New York, who have been wintering in Miami, will assist their parents in receiving their guests.
The eldest daughter, Mrs. David Dows, who has been in Honolulu for the winter season, has booked passage with Mr. Dows on the Hawaiian clipper in order to arrive in Miami in time for the auspicious occasion.

IT WILL be with great reluc-tance that friends of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Thornton will bid the popular couple farewell when they depart at an early date for residence in Greensboro, N. C.

A group of congenial neighbors in Garden Hills who have formed a club, honored the Thorntons recently at a farewell buffet supper. The affair took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Barnwell, on Rumson way, and assembled 16

EDINBURG, Texas.—Yesterday evening in Houston, I was a little afraid that it would be difficult to make our train, but I need not have worried. The hotel took charge of our bags, our coats and ed it. Mrs. William Clayton, who introduced me at the lecture, took us to the station.

It is a little confusing to find your way around backstage at their new, attractive auditorium. Mr. Clayton and I tried several doors, which were locked, and finally decided it would be easier to go to the front of the stage and out the main en-trance. Behind us came Mrs. Clayton and Miss Thompson. I heard murmurs to the effect that we would never get through the crowd. During the last few years, however, I have acquired an eel-like quality and can slip through almost anywhere, because people are kind enough to let mego by. Of course, when the state or local police open up a passageway for me, there is a great deal more excitement entailed, but I can progress very quickly by

When Mr. Clayton and I were outside, we realized that our two when Mr. Clayton and I were outside, we realized that our two followers were lost to view. In a few minutes, Mrs. Clayton and Miss Thompson appeared, saying, "You go right ahead and we will catch up," so we found the car, and were soon joined by them. There was quite a traffic jam and I was amused by Mr. Clayton, who requested a young boy in uniform to "Please go behind and just see that I don't run over anyone as I back out." With the aid just see that I don't run over anyone as I back out." With the aid of the young man we were quickly out of the crowd, reached the station in ample time, and left without further delay.

Today, so far as vegetation goes, we might be in southern California or in Florida. Mayor Brown, of Edinburg, tells me that this town is only about 15 years old. They are particularly proud of their school system. A consolidated school uses 29 buses to bring in children from the valley round about. They are giving good vocational courses, and the schoolboys themselves keep the buses in running order and thereby gain some practical training in

I do not think I have ever seen flowers more tastefully arranged than they are in our rooms today. One particular little attention is much appreciated. All the wild flowers are carefully labeled so that a stranger may know their names, as well as admire their beauty.

At breakfast we had the most delicious grapefruit I have ever tasted, pale pink in color, and sweet without the addition of sugar. They tell me that the valley is about 18 miles wide and 65 miles long. Their chief products are citrus fruits and vegetables. This is my first visit in this section of Texas, and I am looking forward to a drive this afternoon in which I can get an idea of the country and, at the same time, see some of the work which has been carried on in the locality under federal, state and local auspices.

Anyone who harbors that notion today ought to change doctors. It was true enough in many instances back in the gay nineties, back in the days of pathological anatomy, when the doctors concerned themselves only about "ordisease, morbid changes they could see or feel or otherwise diagnose by objective physical signs, in the deal as well as in the living. In that era of medicine mere symptoms, complaints made by the patient, subjective evidence, received scant attention. So perhaps grandpa or grandma had some justification for hesitating to go to the doctor about their minor complaints. And perhaps the old time practitioner sincerely believed he was giving what we now regard as good sound psychothe-rapy a wholesome reassurance when he listened with the stethoscope, tapped the chest, palpated a few likely spots, and dismissed the patient with a hearty laugh and the remark that he only wished he might enjoy as good health.

As a matter of fact, of course, such a farcical examination gave no information at all about the health of the patient. Nor does it tell the doctor any more today. It may reveal signs of serious vanced heart disease or lung disease and so suffice in a crude way to determine whether the individ-ual is a fair risk for insurance. But it is time for intelligent folk to quit kidding themselves about Crawford leaves shortly for New wrapping a baby in a blanket for their health status. Probably 95 per cent of the adult population not obviously physically disabled or incapacitated could pass such on a real health test.

By Caroline Chatfield. By Dr. William Brady. Excluding all persons who are affected with one or another acute or chronic disease, we may recognise the control of the control of this point. A girl blocking his way when he's trying has been engaged to a boy throughout his college course, four into a congenial profession.

Yes, Olive, I think it's fair for a man to postpone his marriage to prepare himself for his chosen profession and I think his fiancee should, at least, hide her displeasure if she can't pretend to be pleased. For the reasons that a man doesn't owe his fiancee more than he feels for her and if she is disappointed in Every girl imagines that love is as important in a man's scheme of life as it is in hers. But Mr. Maurois, a Frenchman who knows a lot about men and women; and men with women, remarks that work is the biggest thing in a man's life, bigger than love, marriage parenthood and that no woman can be a good wife to a man until she appreciates and accepts this fact. I believe he's (Copyright, 1939, for The Constitution.)

what he feels it does no good for her to register her disapappointment.

Obviously he should be free to decide on his life's work for it's not in the cards that he can succeed at any job he loathes. He can't keep his zest for life or love when he's spending the hours of his years toiling at unpleasant tasks, and the man who's lost his zeal is no good to anybody: himself or the woman

There's another little point worth considering. A fiance whose ardor is cooling is adroit beyond belief. He can devise innumer able ways and means of playing for time. So it behooves a sen-sible girl to keep her eyes and ears open when a fiancee proposes a four-year postponement of marriage and also to give him plenty

When they want to wait, it's unwise to hurry them, Olive; and when they want to get out it's impossible to hold them.

MINOR TRAGEDY: The promisdleaged mediocrity because he got married before he knew where he wanted to go or how he was going to get there. When he had to buy the basinette and the baby buggy on installement he sealed his doom to stroll around that is the way it happens.

Too Much Food Equals Too Much Waistline

It is next to impossible to make fatty tissue without an excess of on a pound here and there. Before you know it you can put on five extra pounds and it is hard to recognize them as the few extra rolls, butter, pieces of pie, second helpings of favorite foods and occasional sweets that you have been indulging in. It doesn't seem possible they could have turned out so badly for your

But, after all, five pounds is a mere trifle, and at this stage you couldn't stretch your imagination enough to see yourself as ever being 50 pounds overweight. But there is something very fatal about eating more than you need. Exery time you do it, the excess is stored as reverse fuel, and if it is not used as energy, it remains in storage. When you eat all you need for energy, there isn't a chance of calling on this reserve, and when you continually eat more than you need, you keep Useless is the word for excessive fat. All the other body tissues have their function. Inanimate as they are, the bones form the framework. Muscles, organs and connective tissues all have their purpose. But excess fat is simply dead weight.

Once you accumulate this burdensome reserve, the only way you can rid yourself of it is to convert it into energy, pound by pound. It may sound very tedious, Fat is fantastic. You can't visualize food as turning into fat, but less time to lose this weight than first it's on a plate, and then it's on your waist! Of course, the process is not quite so direct, but that is the way it happens. each day than you actually need.

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT if you are cross, listless and fired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet' girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another now to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and easeens distress from female functional disorders. You'll find Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

LOVE COMES LAST

Hannah, Hearing of Wedding Plans, Draws Gun on Bart and Laura

One of the two girls who were rewriting her corrected script for the Spring Dawn program came in with a question and when she had gone out again, Laura made a pencilled memorandum to pass the copy along to Bart for his criticism the moment the girls had fin-ished. In spite of the distractions and interruptions, she had man-aged in little more than two weeks to turn out enough copy to keep the show going for four weeks.

For the first time, she regretted having undertaken to write the story. Radio writing was some-thing that went on and on and unless Bart would consent to her writing while they were abroad a serious complication threatened. She thought: I'll talk it over with him this afternoon before he goes home. But a little after 4 o'clock Bart came in, talking as he entered, and her mental memo was pushed out of mind.

"Talk about irony," he groaned. "Tonight Phillips lies in the undertaking parlors and do you know what takes place at 9 o'clock?"

Instantly she remembered. "The Instantly she remembered. "The premiere of the Caraway program," she said, "And Mr. Phillips worked so hard on it. What a shame, Bart."

"Well, the least we can do is listen in—and pray it gets over.

You have no radio, I believe. Why not come up to my apartment? We could make it a quiet celebration, in Phillips' honor."

She agreed to that and after a little idle talk about Phillips and no reference at all to the fact that Laura had criticized the program as too high-brow and had never withdrawn the criticism, Bart

Bart jumped to his feet, at once the genial host. "Glad to see you, Hannah. Take off your hat. You're

"That's funny," Hannah said, cryptically, "I was just thinking the same thing." She left her hat on, settled into a chair and sat there tapping her purse with rest-less fingers. Still thinking about her, wondering, hoping against hope, when she arrived at Bart's apartment that night.

"A vacation?" Hannah repeated.

"All over." He made a sweep-ing gesture. "All my life I've been like two frozen images, listening, not daring to look at each other, realizing with sinking hearts that

For a moment Hannah's clouded eyes fastened on Laura, then swung back to Bart. "You won't have much fun running around the world alone," she said. "It takes two to make a party."

and he said with a half smile, "I'm not going alone."

"Oh-I see." The tapping slowed for a moment, speeded up again. "Any one I know going along?" Bart turned to Laura, laughed softly. "Shall we tell her?" he ask-

Laura thought: Why shouldn't we tell her? I shan't let this girl interfere with my life. She said, MOON MULLINS almost sweetly, "You're one of the first to be told, Hannah. Bart and I are going to be married."

The nervous fingers were no longer tapping, they lay flat, pressed down hard against the purse.

"You'll understand, I think, if I withhold my congratulations,' "What a shame," Hannah said. Hannah said. The color had drained from her face, but she seemed entirely calm. "Have you," she asked, lightly, "told Bart about your affair with your sister's hus-"Hannah-!"

"Stay out of this, Bart." "I've no intention of staying out of it. You don't know what you're

Laura said, "Never mind, Bart

... Suppose you tell him about it, Hannah." "You bet I will." She said to Bart, "she's not in love with you. She's in love with her brother-in-law and the night he and Nina were at the house she slipped away and met him at the boat-

Somewhere a bell jangled and instantly Bast was on his feet. I refuse to listen to any more of this nonsense, Hannah," he said. "If you care to be pleasant, we will be glad to have you stay. Otherwise I must ask you to leave."

He started to leave the room

but Hannah moved backward swiftly and stood between him and the entryway. "Go back and sit down, Bart."

'There's some one at the door. Hannah. Will you move to one side, please?"

"Go back and sit down," she repeated evenly.

Bart thought, "She's raving mad." But when at last his gaze fell on the open purse and the blue-steel revolver, he stepped back as if he had been struck. "Hannah—are you out of your mind! Put that thing up, instant-

Hannah smiled. It was a smile Laura wouldn't forget for a long "I don't want to hurt you, Hannah told him. "And I won't—if I can help it. Get back over there—no, not near her." From the doorway at Hannah's back, Kato announced, "Gentle-man to see Mr. Ford." Hannah did not move. She apparently assumed Kato could not see the revolver, for she said, quietly, "Tell the gentleman Mr.

Ford is not at home, Kato."

But Kato's nose for trouble had divined the situation. He barely blinked as he said, "Yes, miss," and vanished.

Hannah moved forward, slowly "Will you put that gun away?" Bart said again. It was the first time in his life he had faced the business end of a revolver and it did something to his nerves.

its six-year botton quotation established last September.

Although quotations on both grains were off a little more than a cent at one stage while July rye fell 2 1-8 cents to a new low for the past several years, there was enough buying just before the close to erase some of the day's losses. Liquidation based on bearish factors affecting the leading grains uncovered stop-loss selling as prices receded. Lower Liverpool prices, reduced freight rates on Argentine grain shipments to Europe and favorable crop comments from the winter wheat belt were factors in the trade. Declines of more than a cent at Winnipeg to new five-year lows also increased bearishness.

The volume of grain trading the past two days, averaging more than 15,000,000 bushels daily, has been the largest in a month.

The wheat market resumed its downward trend after yesterday's interruption of short based on the European political situation. Traders interpreted weakness at Liverpool and stronger securities markets as indications that financial and commercial interests see no likelihood of immediate war.

702 Total issues NEW YORK, March 16.-(A)-Wall Street pessimism engendered by the march of Hitler's troops through what was Czecho-Slovakia lightened late today in the face of a determined stand by aviation, motor and rail stocks.

As the market closed, gains were being recorded in leading securities of these three divisions and the downward curve in other stocks was leveling off.

Traders, fearful of what Germany's eastward troop movement might mean, dealt cannily in small blocks and were obviously sensitive to the bourses overseas. The late-day buoyancy in Paris and London were regarded as cheerful sighs. Rising aircrafts included Boeing, Douglas, United Aircraft, and Sperry. General Motors, Packard and Chrysler closed above yesterday's final quotations. Among the advancing rails were Santa Fe, New York Central, Pennsylvania and Southern Railway.

The downward movement of utilities jarred to a halt as American Telephone held firm, then changed its course upward. Columbia Gas followed suit and most of the rest of the list ended the day unchanged from yesterday. American Water Works was one of the few left in the minus column. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 51.4. Transfers totaled 669,520 shares against 1,113,100 Wednesday. In an uneven curb market gains running up to a point were posted by Lockheed, Aviation & Trans-port and Creole Petroleum. Shading downward were American Cyanamid "B" and United Light were taken more calmly by to-day's bond market.

About half of the domestic corporate list swung into a modporate list swung into a moderate rally after two sessions of decline. The backward section was not under particularly heavy pressure and prices in general tended to harden in the final hour.

Czech loans suffered further big losses under light selling. The 8s of '52 broke 28 points to close at 32. The '51 series fell 93-4 to

32. The '51 series fell 93-4 to 35 1-4. City of Prague 7 1-2s of '52, down sharply yesterday, finished at 48, unchanged.

Buying that pointed up corporate prices here and there was prompted by a notion the central European crisis would ease in time and possibly encourage resump-tion of the March rise in bond prices. Trading sentiment remain-ed fairly hopeful on domestic conditions.

Most United States governments were down at one time but late bidding brought an irregular ral-ly. Final prices were 6-32ds lower to 5-33ds higher. South American dollar loans improved, but most Europeans tended downward. A point or more down were some issues of Co-penhagen, Norway and Hungary. Transactions totaled $5,408,500 face value compared with $7,191,-825 yesterday.

BANK DEBITS HERE SHOW SLIGHT DROP

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.
NEW YORK, March 16.—Although debits to individual accounts reported by the banks of Atlanta fell off last month, the drop was not as large as the usual seasonal expectation for Echrical seasonal expectation for February, and the total compared favorably with that of February, 1938. The Standard Statistics Com-pany index of Atlanta bank debits for February is computed at 140 (1920-1924 equals 100), against (1920-1924 equals 100), against 157 for the preceding month, and 137 for February, 1938.

The Atlanta bank debits decrease of 11 per cent last month also compares favorably with the 15 per cent decrease registered for the entire United States, excluding New York City. ing New York City.

Cotton contracts covering the old crop sloped off 10 to 11 points today, partly under hedge selling.

Lard tierces 6.50 nominal; loose 5.95; bellies 9.50 nominal.

A part of the selling of May and July was attributed to spot interests and was understood to represent straddle reversing with Liverpool. The chief support came from the trade on the decline. Shifting from old to new crop contracts on the narrowing differences tended to emphasize the weakness of the former and steadness of the latter. The distant months also had the advantage of buying on the part of co-operatives and spot firms.

News from Washington on the cotton legislative program was mostly a negative factor in the trading, and brokers appeared resigned to a further wait for agree-

BOOM -- ETHRIDGE

Newspaperman Asserts Section Has Resources to Head Recovery.

NEW ORLEANS, March 16 .-(P)-Mark Ethridge, vice president and general manager of the Louisville (Ky.) Courier Journal and Times, predicted today that the next economic recovery boom would be in the south.

Mr. Ethridge was in New Orleans to address a luncheon of the Association of Commerce at which speakers urged the south to analyze its own problems for recovery and plan their solutions.

He was a member of the group of 39 leaders who met in Atlanta in January to draft a plan for the south to submit to congress as a guide to economic recovery for this section which the President called economic problem No. 1.

"The south is in the position of the sinner at a revival meeting," Mr. Ethridge said in an interview. "President Roosevelt said we are an economic problem and our first idea was to resent the remark. Then we started thinking that perhaps we were an economic sinner, so we decided that something should be done about it."

"The fine thing about the south," he said, "is that the people are beginning to study themselves from an objective angle.
"The government has stopped looking at the south as being a colony and the next 10 years should see it developing into the wealthiest part of the nation.

"Surveys have shown that we part of the country and now that they are being recognized and deboom for economic recovery in this country."

Stolen Liquor Helps Police Catch Thief

Stolen liquor yesterday proved the downfall of Masie Vinson, 22. negro, who drew a term of from one to five years in Judge John D. Humphries' division of Fulton superior court.

Vinson pleaded guilty to four counts of burglary and one of automobile theft. Officers testified a house had been broken into and, on investigation, they discovered Vinson asleep in one of the choice beds of the house, oblivious to the world on too much liquor which he took in a former raid.

While Judge Humphries was disposing of Vinson's complicated case, Judge Eugene D. Thomas, in another division, gave Ben Brown, 18, negro, sentences totaling 16 to 80 years for a series of purse snatchings in which it was alleged Brown used force. Under the limit of the law, Brown could have been sent to the electric chair.

Nationally Known Authority on Bible Had Been Professor of Theology at Emory for 25

Dr. Andrew Sledd, a member of the faculty of the Emory University school of theology for the past 25 years and a nationally known Bible authority, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

He was 68 years old.

Apparently in good health when he left his home at 144 Erie ave-nue, Decatur, Dr. Sledd collapsed in a drug store on the Courthouse square and was pronounced dead few moments later.

Outstanding for more than a quarter of a century as an edu-cator, Bible student and writer, he was a son-in-law of Bishop Warren A. Candler, and was the first man invited to join the fac-ulty of the Candler School of Theology when it was organized

Previous to his Emory connection, he had served as president of the University of Florida and also as president of Southern University at Greensboro, Ala. He was one of 15 prominent educators selected some time ago to prepare an American standard revised version of the Bible and only recently retired from that

Dr. Sledd was born in Lynch-burg, Va., the son of Robert Newton and Frances Greene Sledd. In 1894 he graduated from Randolph-Macon College at Ashland, Va., with a B. A. degree and two years later he received an M. A. from Harvard.

He received his Ph. D. from Yale in 1903. Subsequently he was awarded an honorary LL. D. by the University of South Carolina, the same degree by Rollins College, and a D. D. degree by the University of Florida.

Dr. Sledd was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, and, in addition to his scholastic achievements, was an outstanding athlete during his col-lege days. He was at one time offered a professional baseball contract but turned it down.

His career as an educator start-ed in 1892 when he was made principal of a high school in Ar-kadelphia, Ark., a post he held for two years. The following year he served on the faculty of the Randolph-Macon Academy at Bedford, Va., and in 1897 he was a teaching fellow at Vanderbilt Univer-

At Emory in 1898.

In 1898 he began his connection with Emory University, being appointed professor of Latin at the old college at Oxford. He held this post until 1902 when he went to Southern University as professor of Greek. He was president of the University of Florida from 1904 to 1909 when he returned to Southern University as president there. He retained that post until invited to join the Emory faculty in 1914 as professor of New Testa-A prolific writer on religious subjects, his literary output in-cluded scores of magazine articles and three books, "St. Mark's Line of Jesus," "The Canon of the Scriptures," and "His Witnesses." He was working on "Introduction to the New Testament," which was to have been published next year.

Dr. Sledd was a member of the National Council of Religious Edu-cation and at one time served on the Decatur Board of Education. Surviving are his wife, the former Annie Florence Candler; four sons, Warren Sledd, of Chatta-nooga; Robert Sledd, of Atlanta; Marvin Sledd, of New York, and James H. Sledd, a Rhodes scholar at Oxford University; three daughters, Misses Florence and Antoinette Sledd, twins, and juniors at Emory, and Mrs. J. W. Blake, of Lakeland, Fla., and a sister, Miss Jimmie P. Sledd, of Norfelk Va.

More than 40 members of the 'Atlanta Optimist Club will apply burnt cork to their faces today and canvass downtown Atlanta in a drive to sell tickets for their minstrel show at the city auditorium next Tuesday at 8 p. m., according to Syd Reams, chairman for "Black Face Day." In addition, a minstrel show parade also will be staged at 12 o'clock by the entire cast of the show.

The parade, which will originate at Hunter and Whitehall streets and move north out Peachtree to Baker street, will be the first of its kind in 16 years, Reams said.

The minstrel show is being given to raise $5,000 to send 1,000 Atlanta boys, who otherwise would be unable to attend, to summer camp for a full week this summer The Optimist Club has rented the 6,000-acre government camp at Lake Rutledge, Ga., for this pur-

John is getting in some batting practice at home, the boys having picked up a nine to shag flies for him. Rucker, whose troubles began with an attack of influenza, is much better now. And he is expected to report at Savannah some time next week.

It may be that he will not have enough time to get in shape for the opening of the season, in which event it is deemed likely that Marshall Mauldin will play center. But Rucker will play during the summer and regularly, according to plans. His illness caused a rearrangement of Manager Richards' plans, but he still can go back to the original plan when Rucker is ready to play. He has had quite a time of it. Flu brought on a sinus ailment, which in turn caused high blood pressure. All this hap-pened after a winter of hard work which had put him in wonderful physical condition. It was tops in tough luck, but everything is expected to work out okay.

BALL AS BOLLING STARS AT PLATE

Richards Worried About Rubeling's Arm; Team Plays Sunday.

By ROY WHITE.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 16 .-A four-hour hitting drill, the long-est of the spring training grind, featured today's Cracker workout, the 41st consecutive drill without a break under perfect weather conditions.

Manager Paul Richards called for the drill to start at 9:30 o'clock instead of 10 and it was 1:30 be-fore a halt was called. There was a continuous stream of hitters walking to the plate throughout the practice, with the various other drills going on at the same time. Every pitcher in camp took his turn in the box and worked in the outfield while not throwing.

It was the most strenuous workout of the ten days, so much so that many of the players spent the afternoon resting and sleeping while several others went on a fishing trip.

SORE ARM.

Al Rubeling, showing a decided improvement with every workout, turned up with a sore arm and could hardly throw to first base. He complained a bit in Wednesday's drill, but today visited Trainer Dick Niehaus several times during the practice and spent most of the afternoon under treatments of hot applications.

Jim Marsh, the big Chicago rookie, suffering several days with much improved and took his turn in the box. He is slated to work three innings Sunday in the opening game with the Savannah Indians. The tooth will be extracted

With Grid Tilt Today

Georgia Tech closes its spring football work today-a week ahead of schedule-with a practice game slated at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Rose Bowl field.

This is an encouraging note, indicating that Coach Alexander must be pleased (even though he won't admit it) with the progress made by his charges—or else the drills would have lasted a full week longer, according to the original plan.

The center of the line—the guards and center—still offer a problem, but the pattern of next year's squad has already been fairly definitely molded for the remainder of the posts.

Reds Buy Bill Werber From A's for $25,000

TAMPA, Fla., March 16.—(A)—Bill Werber, holdout star third-sacker of the Philadelphia Athletics, became property of the Cincinnati Reds today at a reported price of $25,000.

The 30-year-old veteran, whose fleetness of foot has made him one of the leading base pilferers in the business, will take over the "hot corner" held since 1935 by the veteran but weaker-hitting

The deal involved only cash.

Werber's acquisition probably will mean the return of Lonnie Frey to his regular job at second base, with Eddie Joost, an up-andcoming rookie, held in reserve. Billy Myers and Nolen Richardson probably will divide the shortstop trick.

Werber broke in with the New York Yankees in 1930, after periods with Toledo, Newark and Buffalo. He batted .258 in 111 games with the Yankees and Boston Red Sox in 1933. In 1934 and 1935 he hit .321 and .255, and in 1936 went to the Athletics in a deal involving Pinky Higgins.

In 123 games in 1937 he hit .298 and stole 35 bases and in 134 games last year batted .259 and stole 19.

His lifetime batting average is .279 and total of bases pilfered 162. Riggs in four years in the majors has hit .359.

"MADE ME A CRIMINAL" COMES TO PARAMOUNT

Although John Garfield played the lead in the Broadway produc-tion of "Having Wonderful Time," and the role of the taxi-driver in "Golden Boy" for the Group Theater, his fame was pretty well limited to a small portion of New York's theater-going public, until

THIS IS MY FIRST SIGNED ADVERTISEMENT

In a very short time the motion picture audiences of the world will have an opportunity to view Miss Shirley Temple in her first Technicolor production, "THE LITTLE PRINCESS." I believe that it is the finest motion picture with which I have ever been associated. For four consecutive years, picture audiences have voted Shirley Temple the most popular star. Frequently I have been asked the reason for this popularity which is so amazingly uniform in every country where motion pictures are shown. After you have seen "THE LITTLE PRINCESS" I am confident that you not only will agree with me that the reason lies in the truly great artistry of its star, but that in this picture -little Miss Temple's finest by far-you will have seen one of the most important films turned out by the motion picture industry.

Sincerely,

DARRYL F. ZANUCK Vice-President in Charge of Production Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation

So great was the acclaim awardso great was the acclaim awarded him by the critics and moviegoers that Warner Brothers immediately gave him the starring role in "They Made Me a Criminal," which opens today at the Paramount theater. In this picture he plays a young prizefighter who is forced at the moment of his greatforced, at the moment of his greatest triumph, to become a fugitive from the law. A role tailored to the measure of the brilliant young actor, it bids to bring him even greater praise than did his work in "Four Daughters."

Movie offers came to him after his success in "Having Wonderful Time," but he didn't feel ready to accept them. When he finally did accept the Warner Bros.' contract offered him—he arrived in Hollywood driving a rusty-fenderthat he may return to New York and do a play each year. This, Garfield explains, is his assurance against "going Hollywood."

Also in the cast are Ann Sheridan, the beauty contest winner who actually made good in Holly-wood; Claude Rains, a fine charwith Mr. Dithers (Jonathan Hale). acter actor; May Robson, Gloria Blondie doesn't like the idea so Stuart and the Dead End Kids.

"ICE FOLLIES OF 1939"

"THE LITTLE PRINCESS"

TO SHOW AT FOX
Shirley Temple, elected the No.
1 star of the screen for the fourth consecutive time, has her first technicolor production in Frances Hodgson Burnett's story, "The Lit-tle Princess," Twentieth Century-Fox hit, which opens at the Fox theater today.

It was in answer to the requests of thousands of her fans that Darryl F. Zanuck, production chief of Twentieth Century Fox, decided to cast the star in "The Little Princess" in technicolor.

All the laughter, tears, drama and tenderness of the great story are presented on the screen and impressive cast has been assembled to support the star. Headed by Richard Greene and Anita Louise, as the lovers, it also features Ian Hunter, Cesar Romero, Arthur Treacher, Mary Nash and rected.

GENE AUSTIN STARS AT ROXY

Gene Austin, "king of crooners, heads the new show coming to the Roxy tomorrow. With him are those droll musical comedians of the radio, Candy and Coco.

The Roxyettes will present three new dances including their "Valencia" dance, a Spanish number. The new vaudeville bill is of top-line, big-time caliber. Charles "Slim" Timblin, late star of "Tobacco Road," will give his charac terization of an irate negro preacher upraiding his flock; The Del Rios do slow motion acrobation feats, while Charles Master, who is the tops in taps, does his stuff with the drum sticks. On the screen James Dunn and Rochelle Hudson are starred in Republic's "Pride of the Navy." Monday night is the semi-final of the "Jitter-Bug" contests.

CAPITOL TO SHOW "PACIFIC LINER"

A striking cross-section of life on board an ocean steamer returning from the Orient is woven dramatically throughout the thrilling new screen drama, "Pacific Liner," in which Victor McLaglen, recent star of "Gunga Din," Chester Morris and Wendy Barrie are starred. The film opens a week's engage-ment at the Capitol theater starting Sunday.

The story reveals a unique contrast between the sophisticated passengers and the grimy, harddriven crew toiling in the gloomy depths of the ship's hold where an epidemic of a dread malady starts a reign of terror.

On the stage also starting Sun-ay, the Capitol offers another variety vaudeville program of big name acts, including the star comedian of the "Vanities," Freddie Stritt. Others who are as important on the program will in-clude Bogash and Bordine, offering acrobatic novelties; Frank and Kay Hart, comedy novelty stars; Lord Lyon, in surprise of-ferings; Inez Witt, the girl with those different dancing feet, and

"Persons in Hiding," starring J. Carroll Naish, Patricia Morison, the new screen find, and Lynee Overman, now offered on the screen remains through Saturday together with the theater's present vaudeville offering.

She will have her hair dressed this morning in a real grown-up beauty parlor. Then she will eat lunch-just like a grown-up lady in Rich's tearcom. That's the morning program for Ruby Sheldon, Atlanta's "Little Princess." Her escorts will be the members of the Louis J. Dinkler Post, V. F. W., and with her also will be Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, her fairy godmother for the day.

After lunch, she will be whisked away in her limousine-for-the-day, to make a formal call on Mayor William B. Hartsfield. Then comes the grand party, at which Ruby will entertain in per-fectly grand style, six of her little friends in her own suite at the Ansley hotel. There will be sandwiches, ice cream and cake. And when the time comes for the tea party to end-for all tea parties ersona grata to the Francoists. He disclosed that the last 87 must end-the Dinkler Post en masse, will arrive to meet their

He seized the girl and, without missing a stride, swung her to a shoulder. But now the yellow giants, startled by the cry of their comrade, sprang to their feet. For an instant they stared in silent surprise at the fleeing whites. Then they leaped into action.

With uncanny speed the yellow monsters bounded forward toward the canoe to intercept the fugitives. Gauging the distance between him-self and the boat, D'Arnot realized that he and his companions could never reach it before they were overtaken by the yellow horde!

MORE INCOME TAX

U. S. Returns Top Last Year as $3,500,000 Is Banked by Collector.

Georgians had paid the federal government approximately $3,500,-000 in income taxes by yesterday afternoon, Marion Allen, collector of internal revenue, reported. For the 15 days ending March 15, $2,929,326.12 was paid into the collector's office, a gain of $135,-075.04 over the corresponding period of 1938. An additional $501,-000 was placed in the Federal Reserve Bank by the collector yesterday afternoon, as returns post-ed before the Wednesday midnight deadline arrived by the thousands in every mail delivery. The collections, it was explained, represented only the first in-stallment in the case of the ma### jority of taxpayers. 49,260 RETURNS

TO COUNTY FILED A total of 49,260 tax returns have been filed so far this year and 2,308 persons have filed claims for new homestead exemptions, according to a partial re-port released yesterday by Guy

Moore, tax receiver.
In addition, 13,980 persons who filed homestead exemptions last year have refiled for the new year, bringing the total thus far requested this year to 16,288 as compared to a total of 25,988 filed in 1938.

Attaches of Moore's office forecast that 80,000 returns will be filed before the books close and that 30,000 will seek homestead exemptions this year.

Date for filing homestead exemptions ends April 1, Moore warned, and urged those who wish to claim them to do so at the earliest possible moment and avoid last minute congestion. He also pointed out that even though the exemption was allowed last year, it is necessary to file a new claim each year.

"Unless this is done, we cannot, under the law, allow the exemption," he said. "It, therefore, is imperatively important that all claims be filed before April 1. There exists an erroneous impression that when a claim is once granted it is effective in future

ON TUNNEL RUN.

In Seattle, John D. Crowley, railroad engineer, observed his 10th anniversary on the same "run" which includes a 10-mile tunnel. Crowley estimated in the 10 years he had been through 16,-000 miles of tunnel.
